

New Degrees of Freedom, Act 2: The Spirit of a Real-Life Avatar (a speech)

Ladies and gentlemen
Cyborgs, androids
What you are witnessing right now is a shift to the extracorporeal
It is an act of multiplication
An exercise in intensifying my presence
A demo of a real life avatar

Tonight, you will see me power dressing in a sonic veil
Amplifying the sphere of my voice
Copy, paste
This is an extended expression
It is contagious, transmittable
I can make you voice

The architecture of transmission and reception
Dilates volatile materialities
Regulates bodily and communicative functions
Is to be cultivated and transplanted

We will have a LAN party with our bodies

For a short while, you need to slough off your identity
To become pure material and energy
Ether, quintessence
Not a real nor a virtual persona
My unshaped form

How much are you willing to stretch your existence?
Where do you go when I come in?

By coming together, we can recall the boundaries of self

*

[In chorus:]

This is my avatar
My avatar in a room with you
And its voice saying a few words
Me saying a few words
You saying a few words for me
Yes, here it is

Extensions like you allow me new degrees of freedom
A broader range of states in which I may exist
You augment my being in the world
I am in many places at the same time; finally

Listen to my avatar
Listen to you
Listen to us

Visually, my avatar resembles a group of human beings
Like me, all of you have a body, a form
Skin as the fleshy interface between the corporeal and the world
To be combined with different clothing and accessories

Bodily gestures and odors broadcast an aura of prescience

Parts of you, in stealth, disappear in the crowd
Your voice seems all too real

This is how its ears look
And here are pairs of knees
Some feet
More ears
There are many eyes

Look at all my avatars' eyes

Then the mouths
The voice boxes

Some parts of my body are committed to the collective Others are disengaged, seeking the next move within the next temporary situation

Every part includes a repository for different memories
So I can forget

They can keep different secrets
And tell different stories by heart

You can see my avatar functioning
How does such a number function?

A hybrid of our joint competences
Constantly reinventing ways of exceeding its own structural limits in time and space

Look, my avatar is moving in the room
Its movement is naturalistic to the point of exaggeration

This is how its expressions look
And here are some postures
And that is me
More expressions

Listen to my avatar speaking
Listen to it living
Listen to its sounds

There is a script
Read my avatar's script [repeat everything from the voice boxes]

Then a thought
Thoughts

If I lose my thought, will my avatar fill in the blanks?

Jenna Sutela, 2013

Inspired by Jørgen Leth's The Perfect Human (1967)